

To the family of Eric Herzberg.

As a student from Mona Shores Middle School I have heard you and your son's story. Although it was a horribly tragic thing that happened to your son, I don't want to make this a sad card. Instead it is my honor to thank your son for risking his life to protect our country. I have heard many stories from combat because my great grandfather served in World War II. So I can just imagine what kind of person it takes to have such courage and pride for our country in order to join the military. Your son along with many others are what I consider a true hero. I strive to be as courageous and heroic as your son and many more to face the unbearable all to protect the nation that gave us freedom.

Yours Truly,
Isabella Baker
