

Dear family of a hero

I am a loss of words for what you have lost their isn't enough sorry's, my condolences or it'll be Okay's in the world to replace your Pain and to be perfectly honest I am beyond Sorry. I know it won't really help by saying this but I feel if I tell you, you won't feel as alone I didn't lose a sibling or a son but I lost an uncle, one of my best friends of all time. We watched the movie dedicated to your son; see you have lost some one ^{ever} that can't come back but your son's memories that you, your kids, your friends and my class will live on so he will never be gone I promise to never forget him or you or your kids. Eric Herzburg wasn't just another Soldier he was your child, everyone's friend, a hero. Everyone on this planet is in Debt for you and Eric, a hero the hero. I've decided not to give you my name because it doesn't matter who I am the words and hope I gave you matters

Just a person with hope in their heart
