

Dear Herzberg Family,

Although I'm sure you've heard this hundreds of times from Mona Shores students, but thank you. Thank you for telling the story of your son. As middle schoolers, we tend to think only of ourselves. But after watching Taking Chance, and now writing this letter, I have begun to think about other people and the sacrifices they have made. I really appreciate the time you are taking to teach other people about your son's sacrifice. That task is very important to learn about. So again, thank you so much, and I am very sorry for your loss.

Sincerely,

Theo Conrad
