

Dear Herzberg Family,

I want to start off by saying sorry for your loss. Based on the stuff I read on the website, Eric was liked by lots of people. Eric seemed like a nice boy, and he died doing something good. He was helping our country, and helping us. With him and the rest of the Marines, fighting the enemies, I felt safe. I thank you now for Eric's service. I wish he could still be alive making sure we were safe. I don't know what to say except for thank you. My feelings can not be expressed in words. When I think of Eric, I think of myself, Athletic, Helpful, Nice, Kind, loving. I wish I could have met him. Even though I didn't know him, I still miss him. I can't imagine what you are going through, but I want you to realize that Eric is not forgotten, Not today. Now I feel that I must make sure that everyone knows about Eric. Once Again, Sorry for your loss.

Sincerely
