In Loving Memory of...

Dear Herzberg family,

I've never experienced death before. My dog passed away a few years back, but nobody I've been dearly close to has died.

I feel like I know Eric on some sort of level. Watching the inspirational movie "Taking Chance", I understand the process these soldiers go through.

My respect for those serving has always been high. I would never have the courage like that to go and experience gun fire first hand.

I'm deeply sorry for the loss of your son, nephew, brother, grandson, whatever Eric was to you - maybe a friend even. Eric's life is in high regards at Mona Shores Middle School and his memory will never be forgotten, no matter how long the time may be before his name comes up again. In my heart and in every 8th graders' at this school; Eric lives there. His legend and memory of the young 20 year old that lost his life doing the bravest thing a man can do. Thank you for raising such a brave man for the 20 years you did.

Sincerely,

Skyler
